

HEALTH & SAFETY PROGRAMME

The Health & Safety Act compels employers to provide healthy and safe workplaces. Ensuring health and safety in the workplace is, however, a never-ending challenge that requires thorough understanding of all relevant legislation and the involvement of specialists.

Maintaining health and safety in the workplace involves many administrative processes and dedicated follow ups. It also demands one to have the ability to make impartial observations and knowledge about possible solutions.

The administrative team ensures all data is captured instantly and correctly.

They also look after claims involving Injuries on Duty; they liaise with the Department of Labour or the Compensation Commissioner and secure Letters of Good Standing, amongst other services they provide.
